What does the first % column represent?

The heading for this column is a %. This column represents the win/loss percentage. It is determined by dividing the number of wins by the number of games played.

This column may not appear for your event, if it is not used in the standings calculation.